Citizens Urged To Speak On Budget

"I would like to continue this item," Mayor Robert Lyons told members of the audience at last week's city council meeting, "and to advertise with the press that we have one more meeting and to see if we can't get someone else down here to comment. Five million dollars ia a good chunk of change."

Thus the mayor and members of the city council issued an invitation to Placentia citizens to give their input into the city's largest annual paper project...the more than $5 million city budget.

Postponement of approval of the city's financial guide was deferred until June 17 "to permit more citizen participation."

This year's budget, which has been discussed in two city council workshops, includes an overall tally of $5,224,367.

The principal part of the budget is a $3,045,710 allotment in salaries for 155 employees, which represents a 17.4 per cent raise this year.

The big boost in salaries is attributable to a variety of factors, City Administrator Edwin Powell explained to the city council in an introduction to the budget.

"Even though we are not recommending additional employees," the statement reads, "our salaries and benefits costs are up $452,448.

"Salary increases effective October 1, 1975, are equal to $233,400; fringe benefits are up by $61,100; CETA Program (federally funded jobs) accounts for $58,200 and the balance of $99,748 is for normal merit salary increases due employees who have not yet reached the E (final) step in their salary ranges.

(All city employees are eligible for step raises, through a fifth step, which is attainable in only three years.)

Step raises, for example, would boost a dispatcher-clerk from $745.80 a month to $920.40 in three years time, plus a variety of benefits. A police officer would go from $963.46 to $1,189.07.

In addition, organizations representing the city's employees have negotiated cost of living increases amounting to 8.1 per cent last year and 9 per cent this year.

Employee benefits include such items as eight holidays a year, 12 days sick leave, 15 days vacation (21 days after 10 years).

Also medical insurance, life insurance, tuition reimbursement, educational incentive pay, overtime and a retirement system.

Negotiations with four different employee organizations are due again in October, 1976 for three year agreements. City employees are organized into the International Association of Fire Fighters, Local 2147 (AFL-CIO), the Placentia City Employees' Association, the Placentia Police Association and the Mid-Management Group.

In addition, heads of departments and top administration salaries are arranged.

Other salaries now being paid by the city include fireman, from $931.16 to $1,149.20; secretary, $688.20 to $849.33 and maintenance man, from $723.32 to $892.67 in the three year span. Benefits are additional.

Powell's statement continues with a budget breakdown for the 1975-76 fiscal year of $3,045.710 for salaries and benefits or 58.4 per cent of the budget; $1,079,407 for materials, supplies and services or 20.6 per cent and a capital outlay of $1,094,202 or 21 per cent of the budget.

In a budget comparison, the city administrator adds: "We have a budget reduction of $354,277 from the fiscal year 1974-75. This is due to the reduction in street construction and park facilities construction. During 1974-75 a sum of $537,753 was budgeted for the extension of Chapman Avenue to Orangethorpe Avenue. Also during this period, the city budgeted approximately $975,000 for park and recreational facilities acquisition, construction and development.

"These capital projects are not annual projects and once finalized, they are completed.

"It should be mentioned that as capital projects are developed the city hall will encounter various costs associated with maintenance and upkeep, staffing, etc. These costs will result in increases in salaries and benefits and material, supplies and services. This is why these two accounts show an increase over last year."

Powell continues: "The budget as presented, calls for no increase in the city tax rate of $1.24.

2,354 Students To Graduate Here

BY PAULINE AROIAN

Congratulations are in order for 2,354 Placentia students who will receive diplomas in graduation ceremonies from seven schools in the Placentia Unified School District this week. Four commencement exercises for the district's 1,014 high school seniors are being held at various locations on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, with three ceremonies for 1,340 eighth grade graduates scheduled for Wednesday.

Fifty students are being presented for graduation from El Camino Real High School at 6 p.m. Wednesday, June 11, in the Backs Community Building, 201 N. Bradford Ave., Placentia.

Principal Sinclair Jones is presiding at the ceremony, and C.J. Johnson, vocational counselor of education at California State University, Fullerton, is guest speaker. Dr. William Yates, board president, and John Tynes, district superintendent, are scheduled to award diplomas and greet graduates.

The first class of seniors from Esperanza High, newest school in the district, will graduate at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, June 12, in the campus Quad, 1830 N. Kellogg Dr., Anaheim.

The 235 graduates will hear addresses by three of their classmates: Rick Laberge, senior class president; Kip Sykes, student body president; and Linda Spiro, valedictorian.

Dr. John Parrish, principal, will preside at the ceremony, with the Rev. Jerry Witbro, pastor of the Moravian Community Church of Yorba Linda giving the invocation. Music will be provided by the Esperanza band, directed by Gary Lee, and the Chamber Singers, conducted by Duane Miller.

A graduation night party will be given by parents in the campus gymnasium.

THE SOUND OF MUSIC under the baton of Daniel G. Lewis, Placentia resident, is becoming more and more familiar throughout the world. Lewis, well known in this area, will be making his conducting debut in the Hollywood Bowl on July 1, leading the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra.

Paramedics Now; Payment Later

A system of paramedic service, which would force Placentia citizens to pay for their neighbors medical treatment, unless the city council decides to add a fee for service, was adopted by the city's governing body last week on a split 3-2 vote.

Declining to approve the paramedic service were Councilmen Jack Gomez and Robert Langer who dissented because council made no delineation of funding to pay for the innovation.

The initial cost will be $61,000 for the year.

Eager to join the service, Mayor Robert Lyons had unabashedly promoted the city's joining the project under the auspices of the Orange County Fire Department.

The paramedic team will operate from Fire Station 10 in Yorba Linda with response time into Placentia estimated at 5 minutes, although the station would be some eight miles away from Placentia's most remote point.

The method of paying for the service was deferred until a later date, although the funding could conceivably raise property taxes if councilmen decided to pay for it from that account. City Administrator Edwin Powell, said however that he believed sufficient money is available without raising taxes in the city's pending $5 million budget should the city council decide to finance the service from property taxes.

Funding could come from property tax or from the city's utility tax which places a 5 per cent assessment on each Placentia citizen's utility bills.

The utility tax, which was passed in August, 1970 and has been considered earmarked to provide capital improvements for the city, such as the new Civic Center, has so far principally been used for city vehicles of various sorts, street lights and a $94,600 payment on the Civic Center and the recent $427,000 acquisition of five acres of ground north of City Hall.

If the paramedics service is to be financed from the utility tax, it would be the first time a continuing service was so funded. Councilmen at various times have discussed the eventual elimination of the utility tax or removing the tax from one of the utilities...possibly water.

However, as the utility tax has produced more and more revenue, the city council has for four years dropped the property tax.

The county paramedic service contracted for by city councilmen would make one unit with two men available around the clock to serve the Yorba Linda-Placentia-sections of the county area.

The team apparently would go to the scene of greatest emergency, although no exact guidelines for the service, as to when the service should be called, were presented.

Councilman Langer questioned whether the unit would be put out of service if a paramedic were required to accompany a patient to the hospital (in a private ambulance.... the van is not to be used for patient transportation).

Mayor Lyons responded that in some cities where the service is now in use, they are considering a third paramedic for each unit. "Now they're saying two aren't enough. You need three because somebody's got to go back and forth."

"Those are the points I'm trying to make," Langer continued, "because it seems like once you get involved in one of these things and then the thing just keeps mushrooming and growing and growing. Now we're talking about $60,000 and in our projected general plan we have like $240,000?"

Langer continued: "What happens in the event one unit is down for mechanical repairs?"

Mayor Pro Tem Michael Callahan who voted for the service, added: "Right in our agreement it says that transportation shall be by ambulance. Personally I don't want to see us get in the ambulance business. I

Action May Open Door For Scarpas

A master developmental plan for the remainder of the four corners of Yorba Linda and Kraemer Boulevards was adopted Tuesday, paving the way for the petition from Jack and Bonnie Scarpa for inclusion of their real estate office within the area.

The plan, shifted slightly from the recommendation of the city's planning commission, would allow a mixture of retail stores and commercial offices between the site where Bob's Big Boy is located and a proposed bank building on the northeast corner of Yorba Linda Boulevard and Bradford Avenue.

The area, over which homeowners in nearby tracts had at one time appeared in number to protest the restaurant, brought little comment this time from the public.

One spokesman against the inclusion of retail enterprises was former Mayor Robert Finnell, who reminded council members that the area was originally planned for offices.

The designated mix, with only Councilman Jack Gomez opposing, neither designates nor prevents establishment of the Herbert Hawkins real estate office owned by Jack and Bonnie Scarpa.

The Scarpas have previously been denied use of a free standing building in the southwest sector of the Town Center, Placentia's major shopping area, by a council vote of 3

School Board Bans Prayer

A suggestion to open board meetings of the Placentia Unified School District with an invocation, was soundly defeated Monday night when trustees voted four to one against the change in agenda.

The idea had been forwarded following a meeting of the State Board of Education, which opens with prayer. Dr. William Yates, president of the PUSD board, thought it might be a good example to follow.

Speaking strongly against the move was board vice president Salvador Zavala who said that he believed it violated the separation of church and state. "What about children with parents who don't agree, who don't believe in it?"

Trustee John Balducci said he believed the prayer would be a good example but voted against it. Trustee Jean Pappas thought if it seriously bothered any board member that it would not be appropriate. Trustee John Press said he believed that in time it would become a "perfunctory thing...that would bother me."

Dr. Yates cited it as a good example and voted against the rest of his board. Superintendent of Schools John O. Tynes, also spoke in favor of the inclusion of a prayer: "We need all the help we can get. I'm in favor of it."

Tri-Cities Will Condemn Park Land

Members of the Tri-City Park Authority voted Wednesday night to begin condemnation proceedings to obtain the additional 11 acres of the 40-acre Lake Placentia site.

The vote was 3 to 2 with Placentia Mayor Robert Lyons and Councilman George De Jesus and Fullerton representative Gerald Price voting in favor and Brea Mayor Leonard MacKain and Councilman Sam Cooper voting against, as instructed by their city council.

Absent were Fullerton representative Wesley Smith, who was out of the city and Orange County representative Tom Collins.

Mayor Lyons said that the proceedings will begin immediately on the 11-acre parcel which is owned by heirs of the Tuffree family estate. The land has been appraised at $251,000.

The meeting in an alternating arrangement, was held at the Bra arrangement, was held at the Brea City Hall.

The Tri-City Park, a subregional water oriented park-grounds is owned by the three cities with funding also contributed by Orange County Supervisors.

Placentia Conductor In Bowl Debut

Daniel G. Lewis, Placentia resident for the past 12 years, will join an elite group of orchestra conductors when he debuts at the Hollywood Bowl July 1 before the prestitious Los Angeles Philmonic.

It will be a first for the 50-year-old conductor, who now heads the Conducting Department at the University of Southern California and is Music Director of the Pasadena Symphony Orchestra.

In great demand for his services throughout the country as well as in Europe, Lewis has set a schedule this summer which will feature him in front of the Los Angeles Philharmonic for special Bach concerts July 1 and 3, returning also for further appearances on August 26 and 28.

In addition he will wield the baton for 11 additional Philharmonic concerts next March.

The slender, youngish looking conductor, who settled in a Placentia home with wife Oneta and their six children in 1963, found this city when he accepted a post with California State University in Fullerton, then consisting of eight Quonset huts and called Orange State College.

"When I came to Orange State College," Lewis recalls, there was an 80 piece orchestra and it was very good but I noticed that a lot of people who were middle aged were taking part.

"When September came, I called up and asked: 'What about the list of orchestra members?' and the former director said 'What orchestra members? You have to recruit that orchestra!'

"That first year I had seven students," Lewis recalls, "and the rest community people who played. What a shock! Four years later, it was exactly reversed. I had seven community members and the rest were students."

Born in Flagstaff, Arizona, Lewis grew up with a brother and sister in the general San Diego community of La Mesa.

Since 1970, Lewis has held the satisfying post at the University of Southern California of Chairman of the Conducting Studies Department and Conductor of the Symphony Orchestra, considered one of the five best in the country.

Critics can compare his USC congregation only to Julliard, Curtis, Indiana State University and Michigan State...exemplary company.

"It is really one of the five best orchestras of its kind in the country," he confirms. With this prestige goes his other job as Music Director and Conductor of the Pasadena Symphony, one of the oldest orchestras in the Los Angeles area.

The Lewis applause, however, is not limited to the west coast, where he has received such rave reviews from large metropolitan daily critics as: "How good can a university orchestra be? None better, I would wager than the University of Southern California Symphony!"

His applauding audience, which ranges as far north as Anchorage, Alaska where he took part in the Alaska International Music Festival for seven years, has expanded every year to wider horizons.

"For the last three years, I've had performances in Europe.

A year ago January, I was asked to substitute for Joseph Krips, who was to do the Los Angeles Philharmonic in a series of two concerts and I stepped in on the second one and made my debut with that orchestra. So I'm conducting at the Bowl, four concerts and then I'm doing eleven concerts with them...in March.

"I'll be doing three of those concerts at the Music Center and then I will take the orchestra to San Diego, Santa Barbara, Pomona, Irvine and Long Beach.

"On top of that I have at least five concerts with the University of Southern California Symphony, an opera, at least seven concerts with the Pasadena Symphony, a week

Wagner Park Plan Gets Council Nod

Residents of the residential sections north of Wagner Elementary School, have set government wheels in motion after their appearance at the last city council meeting, imploring for development of a small neighborhood park.

The homeowners Monday night, appeared before the city's Parks and Recreation Commission, to plead for development of the park, which lies between the school grounds and their homes.

The commission named a committee of residents and commissioners to meet in special session Wednesday, June 18 in the conference room at City Hall for discussion of the park.

Homeowners previously had beseeched the city council to develop the two-acre parcel which has been lying in weeds since the city purchased it three years ago. The residents, speaking before the council, felt they had been improperly overlooked in the development of the city's park system.

Mrs. Pat Humpres, representing the Wagner PTA board, said following the meeting, that residents have determined what they would like in the park, which lies in a narrow strip across the streets from their homes.

Mrs. Humpres said that the residents of the area do not want the fence removed between the school grounds and the park and do not want rest rooms, because of the problems they might cause with the number of youngsters passing on their way to and from school.

"We would like some play equipment," she explained "and we don't need a parking lot." (The strip is fronted by curbed streets).

Mayor Pro Tem Michael Callahan had suggested to the council that a four stage plan be outlined for the park "with the minimum of the first stage being a clean up, grass and a minimal watering system so that it is no longer an eyesore."

After the hearing at the Parks and Recreation Commission, the joint committee appointed includes residents of the area, Dean Walker, Thomas Tomeo, Frank Humpres and Ann Martin. Members of the commission who will participate are Frank Freeman, Lilly Bircher, Richard Jensen and newly-appointed student member Thomas Moynihan.

Input for a park plan will begin at the scheduled Wednesday meeting.

Letters To The Editor

DEAR BETTY

I read your "Letters to the Editor" and would like to know what could be done about these mini-parks at Bastanchury and Valencia?

We have written letters, signed petitions but they have fallen on deaf ears. It's a shame that our tract and the one across the steet have to be putting up with these dirty, unplanted mini-parks. They have been this way for five years.

We pay our taxes but can't enjoy pretty mini-parks. The trees they planted in the median along Kraemer Boulevard and Yorba Linda could start a small forest.

What about us?

Very truly yours,
TERESA CRIBARI

Sierra Vista Still Keeps Name

A plea from parents and faculty of the Sierra Vista Elementary School to rename the facility in honor of its late principal, Duane Mendell, who died of cancer, was reluctantly rejected Monday night by trustees of the Placentia Unified School District.

The presentation was made at a regular board meeting.

Also considered by the board as a name for the school which is located on the southwest corner of Placentia Avenue and Bastanchury Road, near the George Key Ranch, was the name of George Key.

Key, a long time resident of the area and its unofficial historian, was at one time an employee of the school district and has throughout the years opened his museum home to groups of school children and youth groups.

A survey conducted through the community around the school showed that the majority of those queried favored leaving the school with its present name with the name Duane Mendell second.

Elementary schools in the district are usually named for the streets of their location but in the case of Sierra Vista the street name was changed, prompting the suggestion that the school be retitled.

The library at the school is dedicated to Mendell with formal ceremonies held several months ago.

New City Budget

As part of a conclusion, Powell states: "It appears to us that annually reference is made to the fact that the next 12 months should prove to be the most challenging, especially because they will require more than the usual major decisions by the city council--decisions which will have a dramatic and long range effect on the future economic growth and direction of the city. The above statement, although accurate and true in previous years, is even more appropriate this fiscal year."

BUDGET BACKED

A more than $20 million tentative budget for the 1975-76 fiscal year was adopted Monday night by trustees of the Placentia Unified School District to be submitted to the County Superintendent of Schools. Wage negotiations between trustees and employees were not finalized in the document.

The Ronald Reagan Column

By Ronald Reagan
Copley News Service

Despite the economic slump of recent months, the federal "boondoggle" business is still booming.

Awhile back, the federal government gave a grant to some researchers to study something called "The Demography of Happiness". They wanted to find out why some people lead happier lives than others. They discovered that younger people were happier than older people. Those with money were happier than those who were broke; and healthy people were happier than ill people. The cost: $249,000. Nearly a quarter of a million dollars to find out that it's better to be young, rich and healthy than old, sick and poor!

In another case, a magazine receiving funds from the National Foundation on the Arts published a one-word poem, for which it paid the author $500. Theword was "Lighght". That would be hilarious if it weren't for the fact that some Americans go to bed hungry or without jobs while the federal arbiter of taste hands out frivolous gifts from the public purse.

The Food and Drug Administration paid a Buffalo, N.Y., firm to study why children fall off tricycles. The research engineers made these profound conclusions: children fall off tricycles because they lose their balance or collide with an object! They also learned that children's legs grow longer as they grow older, thus complicating tricycle riding.

The purpose behind the study was to help the FDA decide if it sould issue safety design standards for tricycles. If the government has any business considering such things, it should only be after someone has shown that a lot of kids are injured riding tricycles. No word of such a problem preceded the study.

The venerable Smithsonian Institution (federally funded, of course) puts in for some of the most exotic boondoggles. One shopping list it sent Congress included the following research projects: Reproductive Rhythms of Catfish in India; How Fishing Boat Crews Cause Conflicts in Yugoslavian Peasant Towns; and a study of Polish Bisexual Frogs.

Such studies may serve a larger, more serious purpose, but one can only wonder why private research sources, colleges and universities aren't taking these projects on for themselves. The frog study, for example, was intended to test some new methods of distinguishing between one species of animal and another. That seems like a legitamate objective of scientific research, but is that what we have a federal government for?

While the auto and housing industries decline, there is a relatively new cottage industry that is thriving. It takes advantage of federal boondoggles in the name of science and culture.

It consists of a small army of bright wordsmiths who will--for a fee--help prospective grantees dream up serious-sounding titles and rationale for their projects in order to impress Congress and federal agencies.

That Congress takes such stuff seriously at all is a measure of how far we have strayed from the original purposes of federal government. There are a few congressmen who battle the boondoggles, who say, in effect, "Hey, wait a minute--what business does government have paying for this? Where's the benefit to the taxpayers?" If only we had a few hundred more like them.

Paramedics

want us to be in paramedics...heart patients, stroke patients.

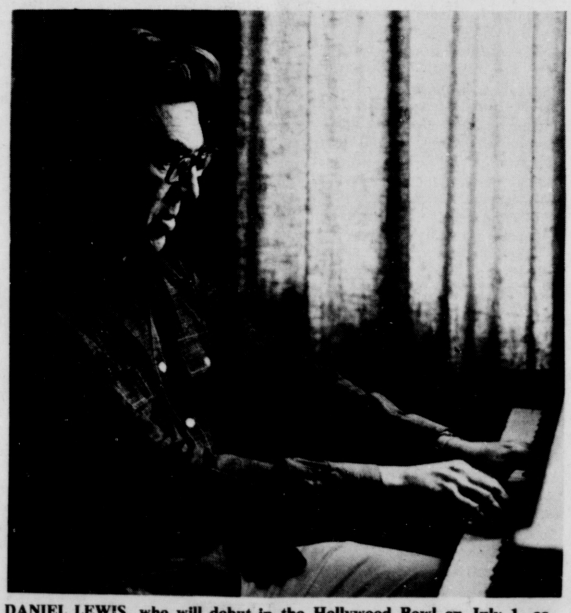
"If I see the county unit responding to every little thing I am going to come back and institute proceedings to drop it, giving the proper six months notice."

Callahan continued: "I had a conversation with the mayor of Santa Ana and they're struggling along with one unit and the cost of one unit annually is about $250,000. So at these prices, $60,000, it sounds like bargain time. I'd love for us to have some sort of a back up unit, but that would cost more money."

Councilman Gomez added: "I can't believe we will be satisfied with one unit."

Councilman Langer questioned how the service will be paid for and Mayor Lyons responded: "We set the tax rate in August. What you're talking about gets decided in August."

A first payment of $15,000 for the service will be due June 30, Powell said. Service for Yorba Linda will begin on June 14 and for Placentians probably on July 1.



DANIEL LEWIS, who will debut in the Hollywood Bowl on July 1, as conductor of the Los Angeles Philharmonic, is at work at the piano in his Placentia home, in preparation for two Bach concerts scheduled for the bowl. The Lewis family has lived in Placentia for the past 12 years.

Placentia Conductor At Bowl

with the Phoenix Symphony, two weeks in Atlanta, Georgia with their Symphony orchestra. It's going to be a very difficult year!"

"I'm at the point in my career," Lewis explains, "where I have to decide for myself whether professional conducting interests me enough, musically. Every concert is a compromise for any conductor," Lewis muses, "you always have limitations."

Lewis, who began his academic career in the San Diego area and at one time was the conductor of the Orange County Symphony orchestra, now out of existence, exerts the aura of a perfectionist in his work.

One of his pleasures is finding little known works of famous composers, in some cases restructuring them and performing them for the first time. Such efforts have been highly praised and have found acceptance with other major orchestra conductors who have then included the selection in their repertoires.

Lewis, who is proficient on the violin, piano and clarinet, has especially distinguished himself on the violin. His first musical performance was with the Salvation Army in San Diego at age 4 as their bass drummer. He started on the piano when he was eight and the next year began study of the violin.

His father bought a pharmacy in the San Diego area after he moved the family from Arizona for "better educational opportunities for his children."

In Lewis' circumstance, the move has been uproariously successful and education is a popular subject at the Lewises' Placentia home, where one major activity is sending talented youngsters through El Dorado High School.

Their oldest son, Daniel Jr. has made the Lewises grandparents three times; he owns a large computer firm in the Palo Alta area. Son Larry is in electronics in the San Francisco area now. Stephen has his degree in psychology and is with a Veterans Hospital, but will leave for graduate work at Santa Cruz.

Ralph is a graduate of El Dorado and he was married to Karen a week ago Saturday and the young couple is now on a honeymoon at Yosemite. He will be going to Cal State Fullerton and then on to USC medical school.

Paul, who is pursuing a career as a professional singer and has appeared in many local productions, will graduate from El Dorado this week, where the one Lewis daughter, Denise, expects to get her El Dorado cap and gown next year and then follow Dad to USC. Paul also performs with a local rock and roll group called "Nevada Day."

Mother Oneta is a librarian in the La Puente Hacienda Heights School District but is thinking seriously of staying home some day to see if the housewife role will offer sufficient challenge.

But the career for the conductor in the family appears to be limited only by the rigidity of time.

At one time in Lewis' career, he was awarded three scholarships simultaneously from such diverse sources as a Fulbright grant, a grant from the Howard Foundation and one from movie actress Dorothy McGuire. These enabled the whole family to spend a year in Europe, where Lewis studied with an assemblage of well known conductors in European countries.

If Lewis has one regret in an eminently successful career, it might be the disappearance of the Orange County Symphony.

"The demise of that group in 1970, I feel is one of the most serious setbacks, culturally, that this community has suffered," Lewis says with a touch of sadness. "A community the size of Orange County certainly deserves an orchestra," Orange County's prestigious conductor concluded with feeling.

Tickets to the Lewis Hollywood Bowl debut performances are now on sale at the Hollywood Bowl Box Office, all Mutual and Liberty Agencies and Wallich's Music City stores. Tickets are $4 for box seats, $3 reserved seats and $2 general admission. It will be a first for a Placentia resident.

to 2, excluding Mayor Robert Lyons and Mayor Pro Tem Michael Callahan. The Scarpas were advised "to go across the street."

The Scarpas, however, sought redress in the courts but a statement issued Tuesday by City Attorney Charles J. Post announced that the Scarpas have dropped their litigation.

The developmental plan adopted Tuesday for the four major corners, further designates offices for the triangle on the northeast corner of the central intersection and retail service and retail shops on the southeast corner of the two boulevards. The other areas are already built.

Addressing the council Tuesday were Diversified Shopping Centers president Ranney Draper, the developers, who sought to include retail stores in the northern section and Jack and Bonnie Scarpa who made a similar recommendation.

A suggestion by the Scarpas that the real estate use be either allowed or denied in the ordinance, was rejected on the basis that such a designation would then specify that a real estate outlet was allowable in any segment of the Town Center zoning.

The Scarpas over a year ago, had been granted a use permit for their real estate office by the city's planning commission. The approval was then reversed by the city council.

Library Showcase

Boxes of books:
The Yorba Linda Library has received many fresh, bright, new children's books just in time for the summer reading program which begins June 23. There are picture books and easy readers from favorite writers and illustrators such as Charlotte Zolto, Jan Wahl, Tomi Ungerer and Barbara Rinkhoff. There are also new copies of old favorites: "A Wrinkle In Time" by Madeline L'Engle, "The Witch of Blackbird Pond" by Elizabeth Speare and Victor Appleton's "Tom Swift" series. Katy Hellauer, children's co-ordinator, invites all children of the community to explore the world this summer through books.

Reminder:
The second meeting of the film making class taught by Ted Citizen will be held tomorrow evening, June 12, in the library's multi-purpose room at 7:30. At the first session Mr. Citizen discussed the basic camera and its principles of operation and parts. The second session will cover efficient and effective use of the camera and film.

HORSE TALES

by JOAN JOHNSON

There is no organization that has done more for the horse people in California than Equestrian Trails, Inc. I'm sure everyone has heard of ETI, but maybe not everyone knows just what it is.

Equestrian Trails, Inc., is a non-profit organization "dedicated to equine legislation and the acquisition and preservation of riding and hiking trails." I has been in existence since 1944.

Time after time, as progress rapidly squeezes out the horses, ETI officers and members have appeared before planning commissions, city councils, and other legislative groups to fight zoning changes, etc. in behalf of horse owners. They work closely with public officials to advise and inform them of the needs of the horsemen and hikers.

They have been responsible, in many cases, for creating horse zones, thus enabling horses to be kept on the owner's property, in spite of the increasing population density.

They strongly support public officials who are sympathetic to horses and horse owners. ETI believes that "in unity there is strength."

At present, there are 144 "corrals" in ETI - each one operating under its own bylaws and those of the parent organization. Each corral elects its own officers and conducts its own social and recreational programs.

In addition, each corral does its part toward contributing to the overall trails system in whatever way it can.

Of these 114 corrals, two are located in Arizona, two in Hawaii, and the remainder in California. Plans are being made for starting one in Texas. ETI currently has 8,413 members, 3,741 of which are juniors.

Junior activities are a big part of ETI. A great many of the corrals have large groups of junior members who put on their own horseshows and other fund-raising events.

Most of the corrals choose a queen to represent their corral in the big queen contest held at the annual state convention. This year the state convention will be held in Ventura July 11-13.

Many, many horsemen are not ETI members--which is sad, really. Having such a large organization to support the horse owners offers a great deal of peace of mind.

Most of these non-members have the idea that ETI is mainly for trail riders. This is very definitely not so! Several corrals have worked very hard to acquire land, permission, and whatever else it takes to build show arenas.

Corral No. 40 in Whittier is a good example of one of these hard-working corrals. They hold a monthly show at Parnell Park that is well attended b ETI and non-ETI members.

More and more corrals are beginning to hold their shows at the Diamond Bar Equestrian Center.

Our family have been active members of Corral No. 4 in Paramount for 13 years; and we shall continue to be active members, because Equestrian Trails, Inc., is an organization that we really believe in! All horse owners should be members! (I have plenty of membership applications if you're interested.)

RAYDRA INTERIORS

"Peggy's Pointers"

What Is An Interior Decorator?

Interior decorators come in all types. Everyone has joked about the limp-wristed decorator who flits from room to room. This is a sterotype. There are others who develop an acute case of snobbery and raise their prices on merchandise and fees to an unrealistic level.

Good decorators should keep the customer's best interest at heart. They are there to help the client best express his/her taste in the home. They charge a fee for their services, but try to offset the fee by selling their merchandise at a lower price as a courtesy to their client. A good decorator should not sell status or or snobbery. A good decorator provides personal ized service.

I want to wish a Happy Father's Day to all Dads everywhere, but especially to three most important to me-my husband, Ray, who makes every day a clebration, my Dad McCandless, and Dad Dracoules. I love you all.

New Buildings To Change Face Of City

Progress is rapidly changing the face of our city.

Indeed, whatever the state of the building industry elsewhere, Yorba Linda is experiencing no slump. Apart from the ever-present new housing tracts, six commercial projects are either presently under way or set to begin shortly.

First is Patton Plaza, already well along toward completion at the intersection of Yorba Linda Boulevard and Lakeview. When complete, the shopping center will include a Stater Brothers Market and a number of smaller shops.

A McDonald's restaurant in the center is already open.

Just up Lakeview from Patton Plaza will be the Lakeview Professional Plaza being built by four Yorba Linda professional men...attorney-at-law Roland Bigonger, appraiser Ray Metzger, and dentists Robert Meador and Quentin Goodwin.

The builders themselves will occupy 40 per cent of the office space.

Further up Lakeview will be another restaurant, Frisco's Gourmet House, to be operated by Tony Frisco of Frisco's Gourmet Market and Deli in the Kountry Market shopping center. When open, the dining establishment will seat over 100 persons, offering patio dining together with a bar and lounge and featuring Italian and American cuisine.

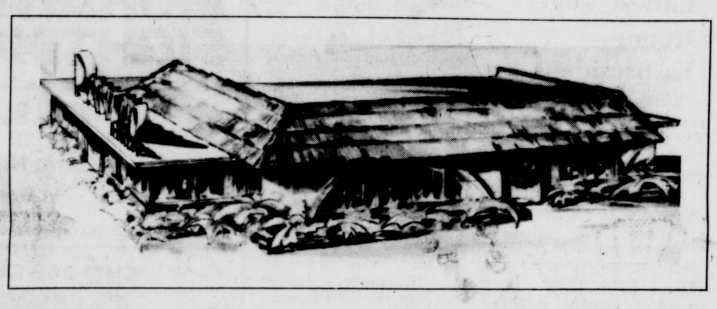
About a block away, at the corner of Lemon and Main, a new Rancho Realty office is to occupy the long-abandoned gas-station site across from Pomona First Federal. The office, run by Bill and Beverly Ross, will be moving from its present site at 19756 Yorba Linda Blvd.

Out on Yorba Linda Boulevard just west of Country Club Village shopping center, Pacific Telephone will put up a multi-million-dollar central switching office. The two-story building, constructed to permit future expansion westward, will house electronic equipment for routing telephone calls.

In downtown Yorba Linda, the Village Coffee Shop, long a Main Street feature, will shortly begin a remodeling face-lift as part of the current campaign to modernize the appearance of the city's oldest shopping area according to operator Catherine Valentino.

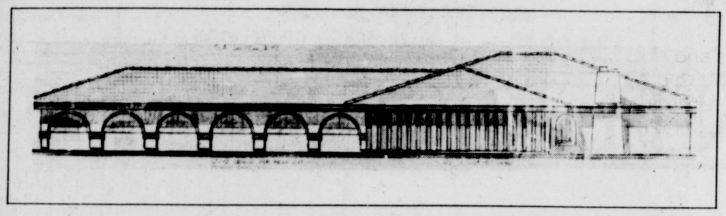
PROFESSIONAL

New professional building in Yorba Linda will be Lakeview Professional Plaza set to rise on Lakeview north of Patton Plaza.



REALTY

New real estate office, Rancho Realty, will be moving soon to a new location at the old gas-station site at the corner of Main Street and Lemon.

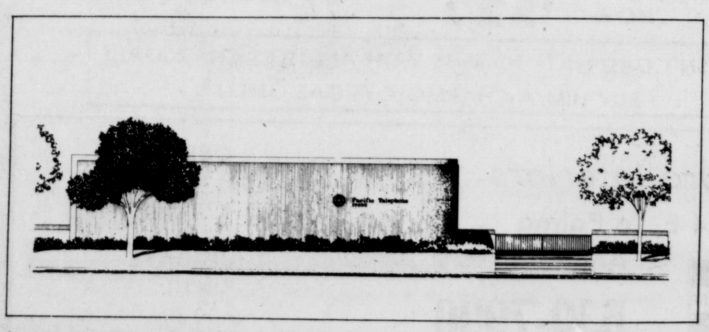


RESTAURANT

Frisco's Gourmet House to be built on Lakeview south of Lemon will offer dining and drinking facilities.

NEW FOR OLD

The Village Coffee Shop is set to join the Main Street remodeling campaign with an all-new front. Insert shows owner Catherine Valentino.



TELEPHONE

Pacific Telephone will soon be building a switching center to handle phone needs. It will go up at Yorba Linda Boulevard near Kellogg.

Wagner PTA Officers

Charles Wagner PTA recently held their installation dinner in the Imperial Golf Course banquet room.

YOUR Pharmacist SPEAKS

By John Payne
Owner-Reg. Pharmacist

It was Shakespeare who, in reference to the human body, spoke of "too, too solid flesh". Actually, a good part of our bodies is made up of nothing more solid than water. In fact, the typical human adult consists of 70 percent water; and a loss of, say, 15 percent of this vital fluid could be fatal.

Water is not a simple chemical compound due to a wide range of hydrogen and oxygen atoms. Ordinary water, for example, is a mixture of 18 different kinds of water, ranging from the lightest known to the heavier waters which may someday prove to have noteworthy effect in the cure of many diseases.

After you've seen your doctor, see us to have his prescription filled promptly and carefully.

LAKE PARK RIPPLES

by Margaret Rhoads

Now that I'm almost out of the clouds but still on "cloud 9", I will try to bring myself to earth again to do my little job of writing the Ripples. But I have just got to share some of our trip with you.

Marge and Lew Kirgis and Ray and I joined the Taylors, who used to live in Lake Park, and three of their friends from Northern California for an air-sea cruise of the Mediterranean, nine ports and seven countries. We flew to Athens, visited all points of interest in the city, and then toured the Acropolis, walking around through all of the temples and shrines that were built on this sacred rock, the finest structures ever built.

To think that these beautiful statues, carvings, pillars and walls of marble still stand, through their history dates back to 400 B.C.

We sailed to Malta where we visited the Palace of the Grand Masters. It still bears the mark of devastation from World War II.

We visited Naples and saw a lot of the country. On our way to Pompeii we visited a cameo factory.

Then to Rome! Wished for a week there, but in the two days we did pretty well. Most of our time was spent in the awe-inspiring St. Peter's Basilica which houses the famous "Pieta" sculpture of Michelangelo. We stayed for dinner and a night on the town.

The second day was a city tour and the Sistine Chapel and there is where we would liked to have had more time.

From Rome to Cannes, on the French Riviera, en route to Monaco, we went through a French perfume factory. While in Monaco we shopped for souvenirs and had lunch at a sidewalk cafe. We then went to Monte Carlo where the rest of our time was spent in the casino.

Spain was our next country. Our ports were Barcelona and Malaga, both very charming and interesting; but we were beginning to wear down, so we took shorter trips and we gals grabbed a chance for a trip to a beauty salon. We were saving ourselves for Tangier and a good thing too, because this was most interesting.

While there we went to Morocco, visited the Hercules Caves, had a camel ride, and then by foot wound through the Kasbah and the Sultan's Palace and did some shopping and bargaining with the venders. Lew wound up with seven caftans and had to do some vending of his own.

Lisbon was our last port. This is a beautiful country, but the marks of the election were still there. Beautiful monuments, statues and shrines were literally covered with propaganda.

The Ronald Reagan column May 21 truly depicted the political situation in Portugal. The city of Lisbon would have a clean-up campaign and wash off all the posters and graffiti only to have it reappear. The Communits are pouring money in for such propaganda.

Inflation far exceeds ours, like $2 per gallon for gasoline, $9 for lunch, $2.50 for a cup of coffee and pastry, $3.50 for cocktails. These are only a few to mention.

Our trip was especially pleasant because of a little inside rule--anyone who complained or griped had to buy the drinks for the group that night. Needless to say, everything was great.

I could go on and on but I don't want to bore you. Thanks for letting me expound and release some of my enthusiasm, for believe me, it was a great trip.

Those of you who read the last Ripples (written by Earl MacNeill in my abscence) read the last article written by Earl. He passed away May 17, 1975. Earl served as president of Lake Park club in 1975. He is survived by his loving wife Bernice, a daughter, and two grandsons. He will leave a void in the hearts of all who knew him.

On the Lake Park newcomer list are Mrs. Millie Lager and her pet cockatiel, appropriately named Lucky, and Joe and Ruth Pendleton, who are avid golfers.

Imperial Women's Golf Club has just completed its annual President's Cup Tournament, a match-play event. Two Lake Parkers proudly brought home trophies for their triumphs. Marge Miller won the Secretary's Flight and Marian Klingman won the Treasurer's Flight. The trophies were engraved pewter plates.

Latin Band To Entertain

La Cossa Nostra, a new band from Latin America, will be a featured musical group at Placentia's Independence Day Celebration on the 4th of July at Valencia High School Stadium.

The group is becoming as well-known in the Los Angeles area as they are in the major cities of Latin America. They are noted for their ability to perform many styles of music from Rock to Latin, and to sing in as many as four languages. Currently they are performing in the Los Angeles-Palm Springs area while preparing a new American recording for release.

La Cossa Nostra is one of many musical groups in "Portraits in Pastel" the variety show produced by "Bumps" Blackwell to entertain prior to the traditional fireworks display.

This is the fifth annual Fourth of July celebration sponsored by the Placentia-Yorba Linda Y's Men. It will be held in Bradford Stadium at Valencia High School on Friday, July 4th. The gates will open at 6 p.m. and the show will start at 7 p.m. Adult tickets will be $2 and children up to 12 will be $1. There will be hot dogs, balloons, and other items for purchase.

This is a fun-for-all-the-family show, and is a safe and sane way to enjoy a spectacular fireworks show. The proceeds from the show will be used for the programs of the YMCA for youth and families in the community.

Tuffree Wins Iron Man

Four teams of tough Tuffree Junior High School athletes are displaying an Iron Man Trophy they won for compiling the best overall score in informal league competition during the year.

The Iron Man is a perpetual trophy which circulates among Tuffree, Kraemer and Bernardo Yorba Junior High Schools in the Placentia Unified School District and Yorba Linda Junior High School. League sports are flag football, basketball, softball and track.

This is the first year Tuffree has won the coveted award, according to Jim Arnoldt, seventh grade coach. Kraemer Junior High has been the winner the preceding three years.

Each time a team loses an event, it accumulates a "bad point" for the school, Arnoldt explained. The school with the least number of "bad points" holds the trophy for the next school year.

Tuffree won with 12 points. Runners-up are Bernardo Yorba with 17½ points, Yorba Linda Junior High with 24½ points and Kraemer with 26 points.

Winning Most Valuable Player awards in football at Tuffree were Dean Gerhart, seventh grade, and Craig Lopez, eighth grade; in basketball were Ric Martin, seventh grade, and David Stipe, eighth grade; in softball were Chuck Parks and Dean Gerhart, seventh grade, and Mark Weber and Danny Dix, eighth grade; and in track were Charlie Eberly, seventh grade and Ron Murphy, eighth grade.

Brian Phelps was named Athlete of the Year at Tuffree. He earned letters in all four sports both years he attended the school.

Coaching with Arnoldt in seventh grade softball is Pete Candella. Eighth grade coaches are Bob Maylum, Gary Farrell and Jim Perry.

AIR CONDITIONING

The Board of Trustees of the Placentia Unified School District has authorized employment of an architect to plan air conditioning for the 400 building on the McFadden Elementary School campus.

El Dorado Hoop Stars In Classic

Kevin Heenan and Tyrone Branyan, El Dorado High School basketball stars will play on the North Team, Saturday night, June 14 at Orange Coast College in the tenth annual Orange County high school all star basketball classic.

The contest is sponsored by the Costa Mesa Kiwanis Club and features the top graduating seniors in the county. Tip-off is set for 8 p.m. and tickets are priced at $2. The proceeds go toward Kiwanis youth work and athletic scholarships.

The north team will be trying to duplicate last year's victory, which still left them a little short in the yearly tallies since 1965 with the south winning 6 years to 3 for the north.

Chargers Set The Pace

The Placentia Chargers won three out of four over the weekend to stay on top of the roster with a 14-6 league tally for first place in their league.

The local women's softball team is now in first by three games with an overall play record of 32 to 10.

The team bested Oceanside Saturday 3 to 0 and 4 to 3 and split a pair with Norco Sunday with 2-1 Norco and 8-1 Chargers.

Saturday and Sunday the Chargers will play the Fullerton Royals in double headers starting at 1 p.m.

Top hitters for the last series were Angie Mashburn and Debby Langevain.

Cathy Deacon, new with the Chargers, pitched her first game last week, a two-hitter the Chargers won 8 to 1.

STEWARDESS

Catheryn Elizabeth Crandell, Placentia, is among the first 35 women Cypress College students, to receive a certification award in the school's Stewardess-Hostess Program.

College isn't the only place to continue your education.

You may not join the Army to get a college education, but it may end up that way.

Last year alone, 90,000 young men and women earned college credits while serving in the Army. And the Army paid up to 75% of the tuition.

And now, through the Army's newest educational program, Project Ahead, you can enlist in the Army and start college at the same time.

For more information, see your local Army Representative. You'll find the address in the Yellow Pages under "Recruiting." Or call 800-523-5000 toll free. In Pa., call 800-362-5696.

COMMENTS FROM CALVARY

by R.W. CUNNINGHAM

"YES ON SEX"

The California Legislature approved a "sex bill of rights" for homosexuals and heterosexuals, calling the bill a grant of "personal, individual freedoms". Governor Edmund Brown Jr. commented positively on the bill.

As a minister, I am definitely opposed to this kind of freedom. Laws provide certain freedoms, but prohibit other freedoms. The Bible teaches against homosexuality. Romans 1: 26-27.

As a parent I am disappointed in our legislature. I do not believe this bill is for the betterment of California and certainly not for our children. I agree with Assemblyman Robert Burke of Huntington Beach that this bill is a "step toward the doing in of society".

Houses Good Investments

Anyone contemplating the purchase of a new home couldn't pick a better time to do it than right now, according to Leighton B. Tuck, senior vice president and head of United California - Bank's (UCB) Real Estate Industries division.

"Single family home interest rates have gone about as low as they are going to be in the foreseeable future and, in fact, have already begun to climb again, so a potential homebuyer who waits even six more months to purchase a home could miss the boat," Tuck warns.

"The average mortgage interest rate currently is in the 9 to 9¼ per cent range, but I don't see how the savings and loan associations can go much below that mark when you consider what their money is costing them. Savings and loans are the backbone of the housing industry, and if they don't have a constant flow of money, the housing industry has problems. Last year, competitive investment instruments, such as treasury notes, treasury bills, and certificates of deposit drew deposits out of the savings and loans and, consequently, they had little to lend for housing, and what little they did lend carried a high price tag," Tuck explains.

"Now the money is flowing back into the savings and loans, because rates on competitive investment instruments at the moment are relatively low. But if the government allows interest rates to climb and then starts a tremendous amount of borrowing later this year, funds may again flow out of the savings and loans. Consequently, rates are not likely to fall much below 9 per cent and, conceivably, could go to 10 per cent within a year."

Tuck said that this does not apply to rates subsidized by various federal agencies, such as Fanny Mae, Freddie Mack and the Tandem plan.

Another excellent reason to buy a home now, Tuck says, is the government's recently enacted 5 per cent tax credit for homebuyers which, in effect, "gives the buyer 5 per cent of his purchase price all over again." In order to qualify, he emphasizes, the buyer must purchase a home before December of 1975 and it must be his or her principal place of residence, not a second home, such as a vacation cottage or weekend retreat.

A third good reason for purchasing a home now, according to Tuck, is that although home production is declining, costs of construction and land are steadily moving upward and undoubtedly will be much higher in the future.

Higher construction costs are inevitable, he says, since wage escalations are already written into many workers' contracts, and land prices will continue to rise simply because there is less of it available. Land close to metropolitan areas is an especially scarce commodity, he says.

The Coastal Commission will also be a big factor in the future paucity of land available for home construction. At present, 1,000 yards of ocean front have been virtually removed as a base for housing, and within two years, it could be as much as five miles, depending on the laws enacted. This is another element taking land that might have been used for housing out of circulation.

"The Environmental Protection Agency also plays a key role in housing, especially as it relates to the matter of automobile traffic congestion. In addition, many cities have no-growth programs or actual moratoriums where no home building permits are being issued, so that land costs are automatically rising because so much is being removed from us"

Another crucial factor in the escalating cost of housing is the fact that so many items in a home have a petroleum base, including formica, linoleum, asphalt, etc., and, Tuck says, "We all know what is happening to the price of petroleum."

FALSE ALARMS

Fifteen percent of May calls to the Placentia Fire Department were false alarms, the Placentia Fire Chief James Sims, reported this week. An unusually high number. Most of the false alarms occurred at schools when pranksters pulled automatic alarm boxes. Chief Sims noted that the School District is working in cooperation with the fire dept. to relocate the Fire Pull Boxes inside the classrooms. This should cut down on the number of false alarms, the Chief said.

Plan For Special Students

Community members are being invited to help plan a special education program for Placentia, Orange and Yorba Linda school districts to comply with the new state Master Plan for Special Education, which must be implemented by 1978.

The three districts are working with the Orange County Department of Education to set up programs to provide individualized instruction to fit the needs of all handicapped students, to provide services at the local school level for exceptional children and to integrate special students into as many regular classroom situations as possible to eliminate effects of discrimination.

A grant for $33,000 was awarded by the state to prepare a plan, explained Charles Johannsen, director of special education for the Placentia Unified School District.

An initial ad hoc committee of parents has been formed to select the advisory committee. Members are Fran McClusky, Placentia Unified School District; Ann Newberry, Orange Unified School District; Jody Fried, Yorba Linda Elementary School District; and Helen Oliver, representing the Orange County Department of Education.

In addition to parents, the 35-member advisory committee will consist of professionals from outside agencies and representatives from the school districts.

Anyone interested in being considered for a position on the committee should contact Con Leatherman, county coordinator of the state master plan, at 834-3900.

Placentia, Orange, and Yorba Linda school districts are cooperatively building a $1.2 million facility for the orthopedically handicapped which will be part of the Tynes Elementary School planned to open in Placentia next year.

Entry fee is $1.50 and the singles only divisions are scheduled to play as follows:

from herbie's corner

By Jack Scarpa

A battling mother of seven children took on the Placentia City Council last week, and if I were a gambling man, my money would be on her. Her name is Anne Martin, and her aim is to get Wagner School Park developed. She is tired of weeds and dirt, and with seven children, she's probably tired of a congested back yard. The park site was put aside at the time the tract was built. In 1971 the park was number one priority, but somehow, along the way, it was shoved aside in favor of projects like Tri-City Park.

Mrs. Martin's motherhood came into the limelight when one of the Councilmen sternly questioned her on where she was last year and the year before. "Why haven't we heard from you before?" he pontificated.

Speaking ever so sweetly in an Irish brogue, Mrs. Martin replied, "I have seven children and was pregnant last summer and the summer before." The audience roared and an amused, suddenly shy Councilman promptly buried his head in his arms.

A pretty young mother also presented the Council with letters from 27 Wagner school kids and promised there were 300 more school children willing to write letters if it would help. Several people from the neighborhood were there as well as Mrs. Martins husband and all strongly supported her position. Hurrah for these people; they are getting involved, the kids are getting involved and the whole community will benefit.

Rubber Stamp

It seems to me that one of the most difficult tasks a Planning Commission, City Council or School Board faces is avoiding the trap of being a rubber stamp for their salaried staff. Unless you give your ideas and share your knowledge with these leaders, the only thing they have to rely on is the staff report.

No matter how excellent the staff members are, they cannot be all wise in all situations. That is why its so important for you to tell your representative what you think. The more you know about an issue, the more important it is for you to speak out. You will be adding to his store of knowledge, and he will have a wider base upon which to make his judgment.

Your representative, if he's worth his salt, will be delighted to hear from you. At best, your views may clear up a point that has troubled him, at least it will give him an indication of the feeling of some of the community. He or she will be a better leader, you will be a better citizen, and the rest of us will enjoy being part of an interesting and fun community, one known for its fairness.

Do you agree?

Charles Kettering said, "We should all be concerned about the future because we will have to spend the rest of our lives there."

John Newman Wrote

I sought to hear the voice of God
And climbed the topmost steeple,
But God declared: "Go down again---
I dwell among the people."

Fireworks OKed

Whether it is safe and sane to store safe and sane fireworks in an industrial complex was a matter for concern among Placentia planning commissioners recently, who finally decided in a split vote that the answer is yes.

Since there is no known case of a storage of such fire works going up in smoke, no one offered positive evidence against such storage, but Commissioner Walter Nollac declared that a two-gallon can of gasoline, properly vaporized, could be more dangerous.

Under an application from IMO Development, commissioners after discussion, voted 4 to 2 to allow the storage in the Orange Freeway Industrial Park at the northeast corner of Melrose Street and Orangethorpe Avenue, Placentia. The space involved is 15,000 square feet.

A spokesman for Ace Fireworks Company reported that the fireworks, none of which is capable of leaving the ground, are non-explosive. They will be stored on wooden pallets, three deep, not to exceed 12 feet. He stated to the commissioners that "this particular industry has a safe record nation-wide".

Commissioners voting against the permit were Chairman Robert Bircher and Commissioner Claire Herr, who declared: "I'm not convinced these things are safe." Commissioner Fred Aguirre was absent.

Jaycees Granted Space

The Placentia Jaycees have been granted indefinite use of a city-owned building, which previously served as an annex for the city's Planning Department.

Councilman Robert Langer, former member of the Jaycees, pointed out to the City Council that the authorization would not be in keeping with a policy adopted by the council that the building is for sale and that city council cannot show partiality to any group.

The Jaycees would have to vacate the building on 90 days notice, it was determined and agreed to make some alterations and improvements on the building without charge.

It was pointed out that the Jaycees, who have contributed many hours to city projects, such as setting up equipment in the parks free of charge, are a non paid group and have no paid staff.

Miss Turner Wins $500

Gail Lorraine Turner, El Dorado High School coed, was awarded a $500 scholarship from the UCLA Club of Orange County at a Saturday banquet at the Balboa Bay Club, Newport Beach, where the principal speaker was champion former UCLA basketball coach, John Wooden.

Also presented at the gala occasion was a $1,000 John R. Wooden scholarship to Joseph A. Mueller, Jr., a Santa Ana High School senior.

Students from 68 Orange County high schools competed for the scholarships.

Guests Say Thanks In Poem

The following poem was written by Giulio Cattivelli, a high school principal and newspaper free lance writer from Piacenza, Italy, who recently visited Placentia, USA with a fifth grade class from his home city.

The poem was written during the travels of the group through Placentia and was officially read at a reception at the home of Mayor and Mrs. Robert Lyons the day before the visitors returned home.

To Placentia with Love

Placentia, happy discovery in one day of May,
City young and fresh, with the odor of fresh grass
And sun, oranges and flowers
Happy like a young girl that wakes up in the morning.

Placentia, you welcome us with open arms without knowing us
And you give us your heart
Such that we are--sons of an antique city
So much different and so far away,
Full of history and of sorrow
Our Piacenza--made with old stones, with trumpets and bells,
Always in the fog of the sad
River Po.

When we see our children play and sing with your children
Like sons of all one land,
We see in them the image of hope:
The hope that all tomorrows
will be brighter,
The hope of one world, sane
and right
Where everyone can hold each other's hand
And sing together the words of friendship and of peace.

--Giulio Cattivelli
